

Recognise responses to trauma

Children react to traumatic experiences differently to adults.

Children and young people may:

- withdraw
- become upset
- seem anxious
- be preoccupied with the event in their play or drawing
- have problems sleeping
- have stomach aches or headaches.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
