

Dyslexia and beginning readers

Teaching these two steps is important in learning the code:

1. Phonemic awareness – understanding that spoken words are made up of individual sounds
2. Alphabetic principle – linking the sounds and the letters.

To become readers, learners must develop the skills of blending, segmenting, and manipulating sounds at each of these levels: syllable, onset-rime, and phoneme.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
