Engaging outside agencies

Ideas to consider before engaging support for students from outside services and agencies.

- find out from parents and whānau whether they are already connected with outside agencies or programmes or have been in the past, and what their experience of these has been
- check with colleagues, especially the learning support team, to find out which services and agencies the school already has a relationship with and get some feedback on the effectiveness of the partnerships
- research possible options for support, so that you can make an informed contribution to discussions
- outline other possible options for support when you are discussing the specific needs of a student with their parents and whānau.

Connect with support agencies

Build understanding of the different people and agencies that can provide additional support for students and their families.

- Within school: Learning Support Team, resource teachers (especially RTLB and RTLit), other staff and students (current and past)
- Local community: disability agencies and services, churches, and cultural groups, other schools' resources
- Regional Ministry of Education offices
- Online networks: such as D4 Dyslexia, Deaf Education Aotearoa, SPELD, Autism New Zealand
