

Be mindful of student safety

As schools engage in genuine dialogue with parents and whānau, the child's safety, ongoing learning, and well-being must be of paramount consideration.

As an example, schools must always consider what might happen to a child as a consequence of information they have shared with parents and whānau concerning a child's achievement or behaviour at school.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
