Legal requirements

WorkSafe NZ must be notified when work-related incidents/events occur.

Record and investigate all allergic reactions, whether mild or severe, that require medication and teacher time/attention.

Reportable incidents include:

- fatalities
- serious injuries and illnesses
- unplanned or uncontrolled workplace incidents that could put people at risk of serious injury or illness.

Schools and early learning services must:

- report, record, and investigate all incidents accurately and promptly
- identify any trends
- report these to their health and safety representative and/or BoT, and WorkSafe, if it is a notifiable incident.

Incident response register

Consider how your policy refers explicitly to children and young people with allergies.

Maintain an up-to-date incident response register to record and reflect on:

- the cause of the incident
- treatment given
- how the incident was managed
- the frequency of treatment given – to identify whether any potential triggers can be minimised.

ACC cover for allergic reactions – This document provides guidance on when ACC is likely to cover allergic reactions.

School health and safety policies

Use the Health and Safety Responsibilities for Schools site to support your understanding of the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015.

A school's health and safety policy must include:

- the school's commitment to accurate reporting and recording
- reporting to the School Board on accident frequencies and severity
- reporting serious harm injuries to WorkSafe and the Ministry of Education
- the school's commitment to continuous improvement and the encouragement of best practice in health and safety management.
