

Monitor impacts on student learning

Understand and respond to the impact of working at home compared to working at school for different learners.

It pays to adjust your expectations. Some students will do better at home than they did at school. Others will produce less than they did at school. Some reasons for this include fewer distractions, reduced availability of support from teachers and more difficulty accessing teacher aides.

Jane, Learning Support Coordinator

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
