

Ideas for working with whānau

Suggestions for working closely with parents, caregivers, and whānau.

- ✓ Communicate and share information in ways that work for everyone, for example, social media, playground conversations, email, Skype, a notebook, class blog, newsletters with photos.
- ✓ Value parents' and caregivers' knowledge about their child and assessments they have had done out of school.
- ✓ Involve whānau in determining strategies to support student learning and well-being at home and school.
- ✓ Work with programmes or materials parents are using to maximise consistency and support for the student.
- ✓ Share information about out-of-school programmes that may boost self-esteem (for example, groups for music, art, or sporting interests).
- ✓ Recognise areas of expertise and experience and look for opportunities to explicitly value and utilise them in the classroom.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.

