

Use social stories to support social skills

Social Stories™, comic strip conversations, and social scripts are strategies to support a students' language skills and social interactions.

Recommended approach:

- target a single behaviour
- the target behaviour is concrete (e.g. simple positive behaviours or communication goals rather than subtle or complex social skills)
- matched to the student's language and cognitive skills
- used in every day settings
- presented on multiple occasions.

The National Autistic Society UK website provides a fuller description of social stories and comic strip conversations.
