

Build vocabulary knowledge

Supporting recognition of new vocabulary means ākongā can focus more on comprehension instead of decoding.

The literacy pedagogy guides contain useful links for building vocabulary in each subject area.

- ✓ Determine the words that might be challenging, before lessons.
- ✓ Co-construct lists of topic specific vocabulary with ākongā, and revisit often.
- ✓ Support ākongā to identify root words, prefixes and suffixes and build knowledge of their meanings. Point out patterns in the pronunciation and spelling of prefixes, suffixes, and vowels in selected words (e.g. rac-ism, sex-ism, age-ism).
- ✓ Help ākongā link new words to existing knowledge (simpler synonyms they already know) and give opportunities to reinforce learning with meaningful communication.
- ✓ Develop strategies to understand unfamiliar language (e.g. word families). Point out similarities and differences among words that belong to word families (e.g. define, definitely, definition).
- ✓ Provide opportunities for ākongā to practice using new words to reinforce correct pronunciation and usage.
- ✓ Ask open-ended questions that require ākongā to respond using the new words (e.g. Do you think racism, sexism, or ageism is more prevalent in our society? Why?).

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
