

Support Māori achievement

The Effective Teaching Profile (ETP) – Te Kotahitanga

Effective teachers create a culturally appropriate and responsive context for learning in classrooms.

In doing so they:

- reject deficit theorising as a means of explaining Māori students' achievement levels.
- understand how, and are committed to, bringing about change in Māori students' educational achievement.

The Effective Teaching Profile consists of six elements

1. Manaakitanga – caring for students as culturally located human beings above all else.
2. Mana motuhake – caring for students' performance.
3. Nga whakapiringatanga – creating a secure, well-managed learning environment.
4. Wananga – engaging in effective teaching interactions with Māori students as Māori.
5. Ako – using strategies that promote effective teaching interactions and relationships with students.
6. Kotahitanga – promoting, monitoring, and reflecting on outcomes that in turn lead to improvements in educational achievements for Māori students.
