Support a positive environment for learning

Consider the impact of your school's uniform options.

When students have to wear uniforms they don't feel comfortable about, the likelihood of their leaving school early or being disengaged from learning increases.

Ideally all schools should have uniform options that include both pants and skirts and zero tolerance of any bullying of students related to the uniform they choose to wear.

Tips for inclusive uniforms

Providing flexible, inclusive uniform options is a critical step in preventing discrimination on the basis of gender.

- ✓ Provide students with the option of wearing any part of the school uniform, regardless of their gender.
- ✓ Categorise uniform options by type rather than by gender – “shirts” and “trousers”, rather than “boy’s uniform” and “girl’s uniform”.
- ✓ Enforce uniform standards equally, regardless of gender identity (for example, hair length, make up and jewellery).
- ✓ Explicitly acknowledge transgender and gender diverse students in your school uniform policy or dress code.
- ✓ Actively publicise your new school uniform policy in the school newsletter, website, and foyer notice boards.
