Understand the key concerns of students

Young people share their experiences of school and outline why we need to work together to make them safer more inclusive places to learn.

Seven common concerns

Listen and learn from students.

Create opportunities for them to share their concerns and experiences in ways that work for them.

The need for visibility

Don't talk "around" LGBTIQ issues.

Acknowledge our existence and make it clear that we matter and will be protected by the school.

Risks of isolation

Sexuality may be viewed differently according to people's social and cultural contexts, values, and beliefs.

This short video excerpt highlights the need for visibility to build understanding and reduce isolation.

It is taken from the LGBTQI+ Aotearoa Then & Now documentary.
