

Inclusive design online

UDL principles can be applied to the design of online environments, for example:

Engagement: reducing anxiety to promote engagement.

Example: Regularly touch base with students through Google comments or messaging.

Representation: using multiple examples to activate prior knowledge.

Example: Students post examples of what they know already in a Padlet using text, image, video, audio, and web page links.

Action and Expression: supporting understanding of content.

Example: Use narrated video to clarify steps involved in an activity or learning task.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
